Figure 10 displays a complex, multi-layered visualization of the model's internal state, showing various metrics and parameters across different layers and components. The visualization is organized into several distinct sections, each representing a different aspect of the model's performance and internal state. The top section shows the model's overall performance metrics, including accuracy, precision, recall, and F1 score, along with the number of samples used for training and testing. The middle section displays the model's internal state, showing the weights and biases of the different layers, as well as the activation values of the neurons. The bottom section shows the model's output, including the predicted class probabilities and the predicted class labels. The visualization is highly detailed, with many small plots and tables, and is designed to provide a comprehensive overview of the model's internal state and performance.

Figure 10: A complex, overlapping visualization of the results from the 1000 randomizations. The plot displays a dense arrangement of text elements, including statistical notations (e.g., $\bar{x} \pm s$, 2 ± 0.3 , 2 ± 0.5), sample sizes (e.g., 6, 9, 10), and various letters (e.g., A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z) and symbols (e.g., α , β , γ , δ , ϵ , ζ , η , θ , ι , κ , λ , μ , ν , ξ , $\omicron$, π , ρ , σ , τ , υ , ϕ , χ , ψ , ω). The text is arranged in a way that suggests a comparison of results across different groups or conditions, with some elements appearing in larger, bolder fonts than others. The overall layout is highly cluttered and difficult to interpret as a standard statistical plot.

Figure 1. The effect of the number of trials on the accuracy of the 95% CI. The figure shows the accuracy of the 95% CI for different numbers of trials (10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, 90, 100) and different numbers of subjects (10, 20, 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, 90, 100). The accuracy is defined as the proportion of 95% CIs that contain the true value. The accuracy increases with the number of trials and the number of subjects. The accuracy is highest for 100 trials and 100 subjects (approximately 0.95).
